

Keza's friend

Ursula Nafula
Idowu Abayomi
Oluwasegun

There was a village near a lake.

There lived a young girl.
Her name was Keza.

Keza's father was a famous fisherman. He had his own little fishing canoe.

Keza enjoyed going fishing with her father.

Keza loved to watch the boys play football.

"Let me play with you," she begged them one day.

The boys laughed at her, "Go and play hide and seek with girls. "

Girls said to Keza, "Your legs are too long." Keza was sad.

Each morning, Keza danced alone with the sun.

The sun became her friend.

One day, the sun did not rise. Cocks did not crow. Birds did not sing. Children did not go to school. Even her father did not go fishing.

Keza was sad. "Where is my friend, the sun? Why is it so dark today?"

Keza told the other children how sad she was. But they laughed at her. "Perhaps your friend, the sun, is dead. Or perhaps it ran away from you."

Kekza said, "The sun is my friend. It cannot die."

Keza was so sad that she ran to the house.

She kicked her brother's ball very hard.

Keza thought, "I will play with this ball until my friend, the sun returns."

She picked up the ball and ran out with it.

Keza put the ball on the ground. She thought, "I can play just like those boys."

She kicked the ball hard. It went up and up into the cloudy sky.

Everybody stared up. The ball disappeared into the thick clouds.

There was total silence.

Suddenly, the thick clouds cleared. The sun appeared. Life returned to the village once again.

Everybody prepared to do what they always did.

Keza could not believe that the sun was back in the village. But most of all, the sun was back in her life.

She told the children, "My friend, the sun is back!"

You are free to download, copy, translate or adapt this story and use the illustrations as long as you attribute in the following way:

Keza's friend

Originally: Atieno's friend

Author - Aisha Nelson

Adaptation - Ursula Nafula

Illustration - Idowu Abayomi Oluwasegun

Language - English

Level - First paragraphs

© African Storybook Initiative 2018

Creative Commons: Attribution 4.0

Source www.africanstorybook.org

2023.06.17

